Creative Santa Fe, Santa Fe Studio Tour, and Santa Fe University of Art and Design have teamed up to showcase and support local Santa Fe artists for the fifth biannual studio tour.

More than 40 of the city's finest professional artists will open their private studios to the public June 17-19 for a weekend of free events.

The Friday night preview party on June 17 at the university's Fine Arts Gallery kicks off the weekend, highlighting the breadth and depth of the artists' work. The party will be held from 5 to 7 pm and is open to the public. The exhibition will remain on view at the university through the weekend.

Santa Fe artist George Duncan expresses the tension between geometric forms, colors and textures through architectural surrealism.

He studied the interplay between arts and sciences at the University of Chicago. His first career was as a professor of statistics at Carnegie Mellon University.

He will demonstrate his techniques during the Santa Fe Studio Tour June 17 - 19.

Darlene Olivia McElroy's unusual collages and richly textured mixed media paintings reflect man's primal origins, sins, and religious conflicts.

She is an author with two books devoted to her artistic passion and is one of the founders of the Santa Fe Studio Tour.

Darlene also is a web developer and has designed the Santa Fe Studio Tour website. Thank you, Darlene!
